

The Premier's Athletic Awards recognize the top male and female athletes from 48 eligible sports participating in the B.C. Athlete Assistance Program (AAP). Each athlete has been nominated by their Provincial Sport Organization (PSO) based on outstanding performance during the competitive year. The intent of the Awards is to promote amateur sport in British Columbia and to recognize athletes from around the province and their outstanding athletic achievements.

Each athlete's photograph and achievements are captured on a commemorative plaque which is hung on display at the B.C. Sports Hall of Fame and Museum for one year.

CKBC will annually nominate the highest ranked male and female athlete on the AAP ranking list taking into account; the size of the competitive field, the athlete's training age and the potential for advancement to National Team status.
